

Americans Used to Think the NRA Generally Had Too Much Influence on Gun Laws; Now They're Evenly Divided

Partisan sorting and elite cues might capture this as, conceivably, more Republicans moved from the 'don't know' category to the 'right amount' category.

